

Debates with External Experts

Debate & Critical Thinking

Overview:

Workshops in collaboration with the Antonio Megalizzi Foundation to debate EU topics and enhance media literacy.

Description of the practice

Providing vocational education students (in their BPV phase) the opportunity to gain insight into the European Union and the opportunities it offers.

Students are encouraged to explore the EU's role in providing work, internships, education, and cultural exchange. Through interactive workshops and practical assignments, students will examine how European collaboration impacts their future careers and opens up opportunities in the European labor market.

Why is this approach useful?

This approach ensures that students actively engage with European citizenship, democracy, and policy debates, developing critical thinking, communication skills, and civic awareness. The collaboration with external experts provides firsthand insights into EU governance, making learning more dynamic and relevant.

How to make this approach successful?

Start by partnering with experts like the Antonio Megalizzi Foundation for structured activities and discussions. Integrate activities into the curriculum by linking them to history, law or civic education.

Target group:

Fourth year students

Duration of the activity:

6 hours in total (divided into 3 lessons of 2 hours each)

Transferability Tip:

Link to mandatory civic education modules to ensure participation.

Why is it a quick win?

- Easy to implement with minimal resources.
- Schools gain access to structured activities, expert-led discussions, and ready-made materials.
- Can be applied across multiple classes or grade levels with minimal adjustments.
